10ZiG Manager is a powerful software solution designed to provide centralized configuration, maintenance, and control of all local and remote 10ZiG thin client devices. Note: This application requires a 10ZiG thin client that can be obtained here. This is the software package that I have been waiting for. I have been trying to figure out how to get my thin clients to be able to remotely configure other thin clients in the same group. First I did a bunch of trial and error. I thought maybe if I changed the thin client IP address it might work. I tried the IP address 192.168.101.101 and also 192.168.101.102 and both time I lost connectivity. I tried all 10 available IP addresses and none worked. I thought that maybe if I deleted the settings for all other thin clients in the group it might help so I deleted the settings for all other thin clients in the group and re-installed 10ZiG Manager. Now I have connectivity again but the thin client is no longer able to remotely configure the other thin clients. What am I doing wrong? - I am using 10ZiG Manager version 4.0.0.113. - I am using Windows 2008 Server. Thanks. Hi Jerome, Thank you for contacting us. I will need to see the thin client report, when it is not able to remote configure the other clients. You mentioned that you had deleted the settings for all the other thin clients in the group. This would mean that all of the IP addresses that were previously being used to connect to those other thin clients would be associated with the deleted settings and be invalid. I would suggest to you, not delete the settings for the thin clients, instead we need to remotely configure the thin clients in the group. Do you know how to do that? Kind regards, Maurice Maurice 25th Jun 2012, 12:02 PM Hi Maurice, I have no thin client report. The thin client is 10ZiG Z1 and I am using Windows 2008 Server. I am on the same network as all my thin clients and I have full connectivity with all the clients including the 10ZiG thin clients. The problem I have is that when I try and connect to the thin client using the 10ZiG Manager application, I get the following error: Thanks for your reply. When you say "The thin client is 10ZiG Z1 and I am using Windows 2008 Server," do you mean that 10ZiG Z1 is a 10ZiG Z1 Thin Client? If this is the case
