
Full NEW! Office 2010 Toolkit And EZ-Activator V 2.1.4 Final By ADNAN

A: Well, this sounds like some kind of an infection to me. Look at these exact words from your system event log: The instruction at 0xbf243060 referenced memory at 0xbf241ef8. The memory could not be written. The instruction at 0xbf243060 referenced memory at 0xbf2430c0. The memory could not be written. The instruction at 0xbf243060 referenced memory at 0xbf243070. The memory could not be written. I can't identify all the processes that have been tampered with, but based on these entries alone it's very likely, that something nasty has been done to your system. I would recommend you to reinstall Windows and your antivirus software; make sure the program and the system are completely updated. If you don't want to reinstall Windows and your antivirus software, you can follow these instructions. If the virus just entered your computer, this will remove it. * * * * * Myaogonten.com (The seat is behind the wheel). * * * * *
* * * * *

