use any image file to be displayed as viewed by Neo. Features: Dynamic image content, so that different people in the office can all use their preferred image to be viewed by Neo. Dynamic image update every five seconds, so that your image is always being changing. Great for when you have no time to update an image screen saver. Dynamic image content, so that different people in the office can all use their preferred image to be viewed by Neo. Note: The screen saver contains a internal parser, so the image format must be in a supported format such as PNG, JPEG, BMP or GIF. It does not work with .MDS or .MDE files. The screen saver is unable to parse individual layers and has a lower resolution. The screen saver is unable to parse and display vector images or transparent images. The screen saver is unable to parse certain images that have a lot of transparent areas. Bugs: Since there is a scanner program inside the screen saver, the location of the scanner is being saved in the Windows registry. This can cause problems if there is an application already installed that has a registry value for this location. Credits: I'd like to thank Screenshot for the image scanner component. We are not asking about social network but more like network where the users have connections between them. I have some queries like: Do I have to create custom classes for network or directly use Hibernate to model the network? Can I create separate objects for the user and his/her friends like User User1_Friends

User2_Friends User3_Friends and similar for his/her friends? We are using hibernate with MySQL. Any help will be much appreciated.

A: If you don't mind about having one user having more friends than another (e.g. a user with 100 friends will have access to a lot more information than someone with 50 friends) you can use a general graph of objects: Person friendLinks FriendLink1_To_Person FriendLink2_To_Person ...
