The requirement for this project was to improve the usability and appearance of data management areas within the CDSurveillance system. CDSurveillance is part of the Cobra Labs suite of products and is a suite of products ranging from site management, time management, and Workflow applications. Many of the areas within the system are lacking in aesthetics and in some instances have outdated UI elements. The goal was to generate a new UI for the system with a mix of traditional graphical and non-graphical user interfaces including kiosks, touch screens, and the ability to allow agents to manage their own work in the field. The objective of this project was to generate a new UI for the CDSurveillance application. The application can be run from local or network locations. The environment of the application is in Windows and Mac environments. The new UI for the CDSurveillance application was generated in order to improve the usability and appearance of data management
