God the Father is the original creator, light and energy of all things. He also is the light of spirit to His children. His first creation was the Son of God, Jesus, who is the light of the universe. He is omnipotent and omniscient and is within all things. In time to come there will be the third person of the Trinity, The Holy Spirit, the One Who is within all things and is in all things, eternal, ever-present, Spirit of Love. Summary of Chapter 2: We are told in Chapter 1 that we are the temple of God. This section adds a clarification to the concept of God as a Holy temple, demonstrating through a series of examples, that God is the be-all and end-all. The first example is the holy grounds where God is to dwell. They could not exist without God, and are simply His domain. This becomes a way of life for those who are His children. Any other way of living, even being God's, is sinful, according to the Scriptures. The result is then a different demeanor of spirit. Also the Lord spoke to Moses and said: "I, even I am He, That doth make the sons of men; And, Moses, thou shalt see My back parts; For there shall not be delivered unto thee any of My holy people. Aaron and Miriam. And I will put to them a scourging; Because the people of Israel have transgressed against Me. And Aaron is gone and all the assembly are gathered unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation." Exodus 20:22-23 The second example given is the redemption of Israel through the works of God, that they might be holy. The third example of God's cleansing, sanctifying work, is the cleanness of the tabernacle. The fourth example of God's cleansing, sanctifying, and teaching work is His ways of judgment on Israel as they refused His ways and His commandments. The fifth example of God's cleansing, sanctifying, and teaching work is Israel's repentance from sin, which is the final example. See also: God's Way of Loving or The Way of

Holy Spirit is in the sanctuary (Acts 7:51-53), which is the temple of God where God reveals himself as most holy to humankind. Holy Spirit is the comforter (Acts 10:38) who is called the Paraclete (John 14:16, 18). Holy Spirit (Acts 2:4-10) is Jesus (John 14:16-17, 26), the risen Christ. Holy Spirit is the indwelling (Isaiah 51:9-16) Paraclete, the Comforter, the Holy Spirit which is a gift (1Corinthians 12:14-18). The Holy Spirit descends on prophets, apostles, and people (Acts 1:16-18, 2:16), that he may dwell in us, and is mightily present with us so that we do not fail (2Corinthians 13:14). The scriptures say that the Holy Spirit is given at the baptism of the water and the spirit (1Peter 1:22). Baptized Spirit is given to believers, at the moment of their justification (Romans 8:9). The scripture speaks of the baptism of the Spirit, confirming the saints (1Corinthians 12:13). The Spirit of God moves upon the face of his people, causing them to acknowledge that he is the only true God (1Samuel 10:1-6). This is the Spirit of God or the Holy Spirit, Who shall come in the power of the Spirit (Acts 1:1-8, 2:2-4). The Holy Spirit descends on us in the Baptism in the Spirit at the Lord's Table (Acts 1:4-5). The Holy Spirit has been poured out on the world (John 3:8), because the world has heard and believed. The Holy Spirit is always with us and we are in constant communion with the Holy Spirit (1Corinthians 2:13). There is no room for the Holy Spirit, where He is not present (1Corinthians 2:7). Nor can one be a Christian just because they were baptized. I think baptism means you are part of the church, and the church is made up of all those who have been born again. I was born in the United States, and am a Christian, and I am also a Republican. A republican is one who believes in the Constitution of the United States. People like me are called conservative republicans. We would call ourselves christians conservatives. Hello Bob,I don't know why the Christian leaders never really addressed this question of baptism. I am a child of God, born in the USA, and I am a republican. I don't know if I am considered a Christian. Or if I am a Christian. It would seem to me that if you are "born again" you are born into God's family. But if you are born into God's family, you would believe in the Trinity and Salvation by Grace. I think I am a Christian. I believe in God and Christ. I believe in prayer. I believe in water baptism. I believe in offering my life to God in worship. But the question is, do I need a pastor. I have been under a pastor, and I had real and religious fulfillment, and it was great, until it didn't last. The people have called me a Christian, and I have been called a Christian, but I haven't known any different. But, when it came down to it, I knew that my work was my church. Then I had the same pastor for three years and he left me. But I made up my mind, I was happy with myself, but I had no peace, no meaning in my life. I prayed for the pastor to return and it came back, and I haven't seen this man since. I was praying in

Dawn -- the light of day Trinity -- the whole, the whole -- the several parts Light -- the radiance of God's Glory Rainbow -- a visible sign of the light of God Comforter -- help in time of trouble -- a woman to comfort us in our many troubles The rainbow is a visible sign of the covenant of God with His people in the Old Covenant, which is undone, by way of the cross. God's rainbow at Creation was a visible sign of His covenant with the Patriarchs, that promised that in spite of the fact that they would be cut off, and the nations would destroy them by ethnic, and religious war, and yet that God would be with them, and on their side, and would bring them back to a place of glory and blessing, and to the land of promise and the land of milk and honey. The rainbow is also a visible sign of the covenant of God with His people, in the new covenant, as He promised to be their teacher, their light, and to lead them into all truth. The rainbow after the flood was a visible sign of God's promise to Noah that one day a new ark would be built, and that God would never again destroy the earth by a flood, but by a judgment of the waters to punish ungodliness, and to destroy the works of ungodliness. The rainbow after the great flood was a visible sign of God's promise to Abraham that through the seed of Abraham, and the seed of Sarah that through the seed of Isaac, and the seed of Jacob, that someday God would bless all nations through the seed of Israel. The rainbow after the flood was a visible sign of the covenant of God with the world, and with the people of the earth through Noah, that He would save the earth from the flood. The rainbow after the flood was a visible sign of the covenant of God with Israel, that He would be their God, and He would save them by the hand of Moses, and by the hand of Joshua, and by the hand of Jesus, and by the hand of those who would follow Him, and through the cross. The rainbow after the flood was a visible sign of the covenant of God with the world of Noah, and it was also a visible sign that God was to remove the curse of the flood. The rainbow after the flood was a visible sign of God's promise to Noah to
