Dead Secret Circle Features Key:

Supports all fields...all fields supported by FG.

Classic FG feel...read the manual and feel like you're playing a pen-and-paper RPG.

Setting:

Themes are colour schemes. You can specify a different colour theme in to's game key file, so you can actually play on a color printer.

This game key includes 3 colour themes. To use a different colour theme, change Fantasy Grounds - FG Theme - Western

Gameplay:

Refine Rule Set—do you prefer Range weapons? Class VII Weapons? Manage Class...all of this under “settings” in the Rule Set.

Combat Setting...all of this is under the Rules Set “Combat” in the rule set options.

Augment “advanced” or set things on the fly... (Armor Class, Skill Items, Weapon Module, etc...all this is under “Augmentations” in the rule set.

All the field properties under the “Settings” tab will change your field’s colours, abilities, dice, everything. All the information to run this field is available in the rule set...you just pick it up, put it in the field and run it.

Now you can run the field from the abbreviated list, or from the colored panel below the list, or you can build the panel yourself and drag the icons to it populated by monsters, giants and the undead... In Norse Mythology, the Gods created nine worlds; the great nine tiers of the nine worlds. The highest level was Midgard, the realm of mortals, and the lowest level was Muspelheim, the realm of the underworld. The Norns, or Norna, were the goddesses that governed the bonds of fate and destiny on earth; for every life, there is one Norn. For every person there is one Norn. The founding Norns were the personifications of destiny, who were equivalent to the Three Sisters in Ovid's Metamorphosis. However, the three original Norns were not decided, but agreed together on nine that would decide the fate of the nine worlds and the nine gods. Saga Muspelheim (god of the Underworld) In Norse mythology, Muspelheim is the realm of the giants and the king of Muspelheim is called the God of Death. All the giants in the world are subservient to the God of Death. Even if a mighty giant seems to be challenging the God of Death, he is actually already fallen and tortured in his hellish realm. When the God of Death divided the Norse gods' souls and promised to eat the majority of them if the Giants were ever defeated, Loki tricked the other gods and took advantage of the deal. He invited the Giants to Valhalla to go for a feast, but instead of slaying the Giant King, they ended up being slaughtered themselves. And Odin, the God of War, decapitated King Geirröd from behind, thus avenging his brothers. As he left the giants' bodies, Odin scooped up their heads and placed them in a jar, where they remain to this day. As punishment, the gods were forced to live forever in Valhalla – and the giants were stuffed in Muspelheim. Frafalda (goddess of the dead) In Norse mythology, Frafalda is a goddess of the dead and the underworld. She appears to be the older sister of Muspelheim, and the other nine Norns alongside her. Being a goddess of the underworld, she could take life-

What's new in Dead Secret Circle:

Blightbound is the title of a live album from the Swedish metal band Entombed. It was released on 21 October 2008. The album contains every piece of song from Entombed, which are considered to be live recordings. The album's song length is more than 5 hours and 42 minutes. The second recording they had done, was the 96 minutes-long, live part 3 of the "magical rain" 2006-2007 North America Tour. The other two parts being 72 minutes and 84 minutes. Also included is the "Curse of Entombed", which consists of the first 6 songs from 1983 (the original Entombed, not Sofrenes V) starting with "November" and followed by "Black Out". All but "Curse of Entombed" are different versions than those from Sofrenes V. On Billboard magazine's alternative albums chart, it peaked at number 51. Track listing Bonus discs So begins the curse of Entombed is a bonus disc included with most worldwide copies. Entitled "The Curse of Entombed" it features all 6 songs from the 1983 debut Entombed. When organized chronologically it is as follows, "No One Will Believe Us", "Living with Me", "Siren", "Dance With Delilah", "November" and "Blackout". "Blackout" is in the original 8:43 length and is accompanied by a drum machine. It was included due to the fact this version of the song was the one which introduced the band to a large audience. The "Magical Rain" part 3 The second bonus disc is taken from the 72-minute-long record "Magical Rain" that was part of the band's North American tour from 2006 to 2007. Beginning with the song "Don't Say No". On this version of Don't Say No, Lars asked the audience who had found Jesus to say "Yes". The "Magical Rain" part 2 Unlike the longer recording "The Magic Rain" part 2, the songs are placed in order of their intended live performance. Beginning with the song "Your Heart is Mine" (1:29) which was followed by the song "Camo Shooting" (1:15). The "Magical Rain" part 1 Unlike the longer recording "The Magic Rain" part 1, the songs are placed in order of their intended live performance. Beginning with the song "Blessed
