96 U.S. 64 (1877) PARKS v. WILLIAMS & Others. Supreme Court of

United States. Mr. William A. Smith for the appellant. Mr. S.H. Hurd and Mr. A.M. Cary against the appellee. MR. CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE delivered the opinion of the court. The Government, in its answer to the demurrer, alleges that Williams and his company were operating under a contract with the United States, on the land included in the town of Marietta, which had been surveyed as a military post, and the company had built there a commodious stone building containing three rooms, one of which was for the use of the officer of the United States who had charge of the reservation and post. In *65 March, 1854, the surgeon-general, by letter, directed the officer to remove himself from the post, and to transport his family to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and then, in April, to remove all his property in the building to the post, where it was to be placed under the charge of the quartermaster. The surgeon-general's order, it is alleged, neither revoked the contract nor put the contractor on notice that he must remove his buildings from the land. The company, without waiting to be ordered away, on the 6th of May, 1854, removed all their buildings from the post, and took them to the stone building, and in a few days afterwards, this action was b7e8fdf5c8
