Spoiled rotten, I know. Well, after a very long time, the "resume" button is back! [DOUBLEPOST=1464475656;1464475684] In this followup to Maestro's [there are two new stories I present to you. First there is Abbie, who at the age of 12, may not have been the most "successful" person in the world, and learned to use her love of gaming to find a mentor. And she found a mentor in the form of a really really old PC. Not the brightest person in the world, or the most charming person to hang out with, but just a gamer, with a gaming PC. And from that, she found herself on the path to becoming a developer, and helping others get a chance to pursue their passions, and be successful at it. Next, there is Julio. Julio is without a doubt the greatest band member in history, ever. A genius, a legend, a musical legend. He is. And over his lifetime, he has dominated the band in every way imaginable. But for some reason, for the past decade, he has been stuck in a rut. For years he has just done what he has always done, but at the same time, he's not fulfilled, he's not happy.

He's never felt quite right, and the prospect of his first break in years brings Julio no joy. But something tells him, if he ever had the chance to make it big, he would take it. Please read it. They are worth your time.

You may have noticed that the game was making some strange black bubbles appear on the screen, and making it crash after a while. This is a known bug, and since I couldn't find a solution to it, I've decided to just release a patch. The patch fixes the
