Game Play Mode: ◯ Asynchronous multiplayer ◯ 1 versus 1 PVP ◯ Player vs Player PVP (Arena) - The PVP mode is a competitive mode where players fight against one another in the arena by using skills and magic. - Time is paused during battles, but attacks continue to occur normally. - There is no limit on the number of people who can participate in a PVP battle, and a battle is held as the result of a match. ◯ Player vs Player Monster Battle ◯ Hero vs Hero Monster Battle ◯ Single Player Adventure Mode ◯ 1 versus 1 PVP - This is the main game mode of the game. In this mode, you can fight and compete with another character. 1.) Characters ◯ A character is an avatar designed by you that appears in real-time battle. ◯ In order to change the appearance of the character, you can freely combine the weapons, armor, and magic that you equip. You can develop your character according to your play style, such as increasing your muscle strength to become a strong warrior, or mastering magic. ◯ The character you create serves as a basis for your gameplay in the game. ◯ You can freely create a character whose characteristics and appearance are suitable to your play style. (To do this, you will need to pay the character creation fee.) ◯ Using the skills and magic you equip, you can fight together with your character. - The player and enemy share common HP. The higher the HP of a player, the better the chances of winning a battle. - A player and an enemy can be defeated at the same time if all HP are lost. This means a player can win the battle even if there are many enemies. - The advantage that the character has in battle is affected by the weapons that are equipped. - A player can attack a weapon or the back of an enemy from behind. - To attack a weapon or an enemy from behind, you can use the Skills that are called “equip-from-behind

Interesting. I got shocked when I saw the price my Linux version cost in the UK. A chinese website is selling it there for 150+ (about 500+ ish) pounds. Half of that.

And don't get me wrong, I'm not raging. Certainly the prices on other platforms are similarly rip-off ish too. This does however play a major role when trying to convince a potential Mac gamer to try Linux. A lot of popular graphics software don't run on Openbox (irrespective of whether or not they run on Linux in general) and the standard Mac software would require paid for upgrades. Such a thing seems ridiculous when Linux can run basic 2D platformers as
