1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a fixing device and an image forming apparatus. More particularly, the present invention relates to an image fixing device that applies heat and pressure to a recording medium bearing a toner image in order to fix the toner image to the recording medium, and an image forming apparatus that includes the fixing device. 2. Description of the Related Art Many image forming apparatuses, such as electrophotographic copying machines and laser printers, include a fixing device for fixing a toner image to a recording medium bearing the toner image. A conventional fixing device is generally formed by sandwiching a recording medium bearing a toner image in between a heating roller and a pressure roller that is in contact with the heating roller. The recording medium passes through a nip formed between the heating roller and the pressure roller. The toner image is fixed to the recording medium by heat and pressure applied to the recording medium while it passes through the nip. A fixing device in such an image forming apparatus includes a photosensitive member, a cleaning device, a charging device, a developing device, a transfer device, a peeling-off device, a fusing device, and the like, in addition to the above-described heating roller and pressure roller. Accordingly, the device has a structure in which a plurality of devices, such as a photosensitive member, a charging roller, a transfer roller, a fuser, a discharge roller, and a cleaning blade, are held with respect to an image forming unit, which is a unit that forms the toner image on the photosensitive member. In addition, a shaft of the pressure roller and a shaft of the heating roller are each supported by a support shaft that is formed separately from the shaft. In such a fixing device, the heat generated by the heating roller radiates from the heating roller to the surrounding thereof. The radiant heat heats the pressure roller and the support shafts of the heating roller and the pressure roller as well. This can cause degradation of the materials of the heating roller, the pressure roller, and the support shafts, and a reduction in the service life of the fixing device. A technique is known in which the heat, which heats the pressure roller and the support shafts of the heating roller and the pressure roller, is controlled using a cover member that covers the circumferential surface of the heating roller and the circumferential surface of a part of the pressure roller. Japanese Patent Laid-Open No.
