REUTERS/Yara Nardi MILAN (Reuters) - Italy's Prime Minister Giuseppe Conte will ask European Union leaders at an upcoming meeting in Salzburg to discuss how to renew the bloc's budget rules in light of the coronavirus outbreak, an Italian newspaper reported on Tuesday. In a meeting with national representatives, Conte is expected to demand a decree to be approved by EU leaders in the next few days, Il Fatto Quotidiano wrote. The paper added that he would put forward a plan that focuses on "resource redistribution" from wealthy to poorer EU countries, in reference to the EU's proposed aid of up to 500 billion euros to address the economic fallout of the crisis. Italy has seen a steep rise in coronavirus cases and deaths, as well as an alarming escalation in the spread of the virus in the last week. This has sparked feverish speculation that the country will request an extension to the bailout programs offered by the EU, some of which expire this month. As a member of the euro currency bloc and the European Union's largest economy, Italy has a veto over any such request. The current Covid-19 crisis was already expected to challenge the EU's top priorities: a functioning banking sector and an end to the debt standoff in Greece, which has already come to light following German Chancellor Angela Merkel's decision not to allow Greek workers to strike. The EU has threatened to block any request for a Greece bailout extension by ending the EU's rescue fund for countries.Q: Как по значению переменной сделать запись в файл?
