* Apple: __ * Adobe: __ # Adobe Illustrator Adobe Illustrator is an illustration-specific program for creating complex vector images with some simple drawing, and it's much more flexible than Photoshop. It uses layers that are easy to edit (rather than the pixels in a raster image), supporting multiple image views, transparency, and anti-aliasing. Illustrator can create all sorts of 3-D graphic effects, and it has much more natural drawing tools.

Jalen Reagor out for remainder of season with MCL sprain Jalen Reagor is out for the remainder of the season after injuring his MCL during the second half against Duke. SANTA CLARA, Calif. — Jalen Reagor sat on the bench during a timeout, crying. It was a late October morning, back in the early days of the 2016-17 season, and the freshman phenom hadn't scored since last December. Reagor was playing with a broken right kneecap, an injury that would require surgery and sideline him for the remainder of the season. RELATED: 'I'm not 100 percent, I'm not playing' It's a memory that's been seared into the minds of everyone associated with Reagor, but this is also the same injury he would eventually return from. During the 2016 postseason, after winning the McDonald's All-American Game, Reagor tore his left meniscus on the way to an upset of Duke. But it was a sprain of the right knee — the same knee he'd be rehabbing — that led to the right knee being sidelined for the rest of the season. Reagor's rehabilitation was one of the only bright spots of an otherwise dismal 2016-17 season. He was selected as a first-team All-American, an AP All-American, an NABC District 23 Player of the Year and, in the end, the Gatorade National Player of the Year. Now he's back in familiar territory, sitting on the bench again. "I was playing so well up until that point," Reagor said during an hour-long conference call with media members. "I've been rehabbing a lot, I'm happy with how I'm rehabbing, and I'm working on my knee in the offseason, and hopefully I'll be 100 percent before the start of the season." Reagor is no stranger to knee injuries. He tore his right ACL during his sophomore year at Forestville (Mo.) High School, and then tore his left ACL after suffering a MCL sprain his freshman year at Oregon. "I get through rehab and practice, and then I'm anxious to

Photo by NASA July 9, 2013 — Earlier this year, Human Spaceflight blogger Barry Goldstein made the recommendation that NASA no longer allow the inclusion of "With God as my witness" into the launch oath, and now astronomers at the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics (CfA) have come out in favor of that measure. "I love the 'With God' part of the oath," said CfA co-director Adam Riess. "It's very nice to be involved with a mission that says, 'I'm going to do this, but I will depend on God, because I don't really know if I'm doing the right thing
