The trademark name AutoCAD is now owned by the Autodesk company and is a registered trademark of Autodesk, Inc.

The app comes with a license for one user, and the user is assigned a serial number.

AutoCAD can also be used in a multi-user environment, where multiple users use one computer. AutoCAD pricing is based on the number of drawings. A flat fee of $4,995 for up to three users (5 users if using an upgrade license) is available. Users can continue to use and add to their drawings using a paid license. The cost is significantly higher at $2,995 for the basic license ($4,995 for upgrades). AutoCAD 2018

Applications using AutoCAD In August 2010, the Visual LISP community stated that they were preparing to submit a software license to the LINUX community. The project, named EPLUS, supports the user interface and commands of AutoCAD and is open source. On April 10, 2015, Autodesk announced that its IntelliFactory software had been named by AEC Magazine, a publication focused on architecture, engineering and construction, as the 2015 Product of the Year for BIM. In December 2015, Autodesk announced the release of the Autodesk

Architecture app for iOS, followed by Android and Windows 10 in March 2016. In July 2016, Autodesk introduced a new version of its cloudbased, 2D/3D-design software, Autodesk Fusion 360.

to begin ordering extra fuel after Harvey Houston city officials began ordering fuel to be shipped into the region for extra use as gasoline supplies dwindled after Hurricane Harvey slammed the Texas coast with devastating winds and rain. The action, which will be taken over the next three weeks, is intended to ensure there is enough gasoline available for essential supply chain and recovery efforts.

Houston is the largest city in the U.S. affected by Harvey, which made landfall Aug. 25 as a Category 4 hurricane. "With Hurricane Harvey still moving through the region, and with no sign of the end of the storm, we cannot be certain that we will have enough fuel to meet our needs," Houston Mayor Sylvester Turner said in a statement released Wednesday. "We are working with vendors to increase our supplies, but no one knows exactly what we will need," he said. "That means, for now, we are better off ordering extra than not ordering enough." The city was hit by an estimated 9.5 inches of rain in the heaviest part of Harvey and is being forced to rely on the local and national government for power and other resources, including diesel fuel to run its fleet of nearly 1,400 buses, city spokeswoman Jacquelyn King said. Diesel deliveries were disrupted in the area following the storm. Many fuel vendors in the region have been affected by the flooding, af5dca3d97

---
