The effectiveness of a two-step procedure (GIC mixture with triple antibiotic paste (TAP) in a second step) for the treatment of apical periodontitis was evaluated using 99Tcm-DTPA uptake studies. In an in vivo study, the amount of 99Tcm-DTPA uptake in ten areas of each tooth from two groups of five patients undergoing root canal treatment after elimination of the caries were evaluated in the apical third of the root. No statistically significant difference in the 99Tcm-DTPA uptake was found between the two groups. The results obtained with 99Tcm-DTPA studies were in accordance with the results of the clinical symptoms and periapical radiography. It was concluded that the material used was acceptable and effective for treatment of apical periodontitis.Q: change docker image We have Docker running with several docker-compose files, based on a MySQL image, and several users on the same containers... When a new docker-compose-file is run, the first user it creates, will have to run docker-compose up -d -f /path/to/compose-file. The MySQL image is from 2017.3 (17.03.2018), and we'd need to update it to the latest version, but we've stuck with that version, 6d1f23a050
