the bible should be seen as a reliable source of information about god and his ways. it is not a complete record of god's word and it must be seen as the word of god only in part. the bible should be used as the basis for faith and practice and to encourage faith and commitment to god and his ways. it should be used to learn about god and his ways, but it should never be accepted as the final authority on all aspects of christian life. the bible should be used as the basis for our faith, not as the only authority. if we use the bible to teach and practice faith and belief, we can be sure that our faith is based on the bible and not the bible on faith. the bible should be used as the basis for our faith, not as the only authority. if we use the bible to teach and practice faith and belief, we can be sure that our faith is based on the bible and not the bible on faith. the bible should be seen as a reliable source of information about god and his ways. it is not a complete record of god's word and it must be seen as the word of god only in part. the bible should be used as the basis for faith and practice and to encourage faith and commitment to god and his ways. it should be used to learn about god and his ways, but it should never be accepted as the final authority on all aspects of christian life. the bible should
