What's New in the?

TextCleaner works just like a normal text editor. The only difference is that you can apply each of the cleaning options to one or multiple files, to one or multiple folders, and even to multiple sub-folders. In other words, TextCleaner allows you to apply various types of text cleaning to several text files or folders simultaneously. TextCleaner is a pretty useful tool that you can use to clean up text files, including removing duplicate lines, deleting empty lines, removing useless text, replacing web urls with links and more. You can use TextCleaner to clean text files and folders in just a few simple steps. There are two basic modes, one for the files and one for folders. Each of the cleaning options can be set to ignore certain file or folder types. This way you can define how and which files or folders should be cleaned. Unlike other text cleaning applications, TextCleaner allows you to easily delete lines that are either duplicated or empty. It lets you use regular expressions to remove filenames, text or line numbers from the text files or folders. In addition, you can easily delete text that contains HTML tags or web addresses. TextCleaner is a tool that you can use to clean up text files, including removing duplicate lines, deleting empty lines, removing useless text, replacing web urls with links and more. A complete collection of options to clean up your text files The application has a fairly large collection of different cleaning options, which lets you clean text files or folders in various ways. You can even combine different options and adjust the options to suit your preferences. Let's take a closer look at the different options. Remove duplicate lines It is easy to get rid of duplicated lines in text files with TextCleaner. You can simply select the option and then choose which lines should be deleted from the files or folders. You can either use regular expressions or enter specific line numbers into the dialog. If you want, you can use regular expressions to remove multiple lines that contain the same text. You can either select one or multiple regular expressions or you can enter a regular expression into the dialog. One regular expression can remove multiple lines. If you enter the regular expression, then the application will search for lines that contain the selected expression. You can enter multiple regular expressions into the dialog. If you enter more than one regular expression, then the application will search for the lines that contain the regular expressions and remove them.

Remove useless text

You can easily remove text that is not required in your files or folders. This is especially useful if you have a lot of files or folders that contain a lot of useless text, for example, comments, blank lines or any other kind of useless text. You can easily remove text from your files with just a couple of simple steps. You can either select an option from the left, or simply enter the
